More Direct Ballot On President Asked

Truman Hospitalized

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman was taken by ambulance to a hospital late Thursday night, suffering from what a spokesman said was inflammation of the stomach and intestines.

John Dreves, public information director of Research Hospital and Medical Center, where Truman was taken, said the 84-year-old former chief executive was in satisfactory condition and was in no discomfort early today.

Dreves said Truman was afflicted with gastroenteritis. He added a bulletin on Truman's condition would be issued at 10 a.m. today.

Dreves said an ambulance took Truman to the hospital between 10 p.m. and midnight from his home in nearby Independence, Mo. Members of Truman's Secret Service detail rode with him.

The former president has had digestive difficulties periodically since a gall bladder operation in 1954.

Names Warren

Hospital spokesmen declined to give further details on Truman's condition, but said he is under the care of his long-time physician, Dr. Wallace Graham.

Truman has not been to his office in the Truman Library at Independence for more than a year, but his long-time secretary, Miss Rose Conway, said she worked with Truman at his home Wednesday morning, when Truman prepared an announcement that Chief Justice Earl Warren will become chairman of the board of overseers of the Harry S. Truman International Center for the Advancement of Peace in Jerusalem.

The former president's most recent public appearance was when Vice President Humphrey and Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, visited him on a campaign swing last fall.

Previous Attacks

Truman, looking sound and chipper, stepped on the front porch of his home to exchange greetings and quips with his visitors.

Truman, 84, has been in the hospital several times since he returned to his home in nearby Independence, Mo., from the White House in January of 1953.

The most recent time was on July 30, 1966, when he developed severe colitis. He was released after six days.

On Oct. 14, 1964, he fell against a bathtub at his home, fracturing two ribs. He also had cuts and bruises on the face.

President and Mrs. Johnson visited him in the hospital.

Despite his health problems, he remained quite active, but doctors prevailed upon him to give up his vigorous morning walks late in 1966, and his ventures from the big old frame home in Independence became fewer and fewer.

Policeman Says Story Hearsay

DETROIT (AP) — Patrolman Harold Jones, 23, told a news conference called by Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen Thursday night that the patrolmen's charge some black and white officers have drawn guns on each other was "hearsay" and he had "no documented facts."

Jones also had said in an interview on radio station WJR that "if somebody doesn't intervene or attempt to cool the situation, you may even have policemen shooting each other in the back or something of this nature."

The patrolman completing his second year on the force told newsmen that his assertion black officers have drawn guns on white officers to halt the beating of prisoners was "merely hearsay that was related down to me."

But Nixon Not For Abandoning Electoral Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has called for limited electoral reform, but has stopped short of endorsing the direct popular vote system that has wide backing in Congress.

Observing that the present electoral vote system "is deeply rooted in American history," Nixon cautioned Congress against trying to abolish it.

Instead, he said in a message to Congress Thursday, electoral reform should aim at dividing each state's electoral vote "in a manner that may more closely approximate the popular vote than does the present system."

Weighted Voting

Nixon thus threw his support to some form of proportional distribution of the electoral vote, a reform generally backed by conservatives as an alternative to the one-man, one-vote approach of the direct popular election.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., leading backer of the direct popular vote, reserved comment on the Nixon message, sent up to Capitol Hill late in the day.

But Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said Nixon's message would give impetus to "long-awaited congressional action" to bring about reform of the electoral college system.

No Specific Plan

Nixon said in the past he has favored dividing the electoral vote among the presidential candidates in the same proportion as they divide a state's electoral vote, but that he is not endorsing any specific plan now.

One suggested plan, which Nixon did not rule out, calls for awarding one electoral vote for each congressional district carried by a candidate, with two votes going to the statewide popular winner.

Under either of these plans Nixon would have defeated John F. Kennedy in 1960, although under the proportional plan he would have fallen seven votes short of the 270 electoral votes needed for a majority.

40 Per Cent To Win
In his message to Congress Nixon proposed dealing with such a problem by providing that a winning candidate need get only 40 per cent of the electoral vote to become president.

If no candidate gets 40 per cent, he said, there should be a nationwide popular run-off election between the two top candidates.

Nixon also proposed eliminating the individual electors who now cast their state's ballots in the electoral college. Under his plan a state's electoral vote would be awarded automatically on the basis of the popular vote.

The President's recommendations use bits and pieces from several of the scores of proposed constitutional amendments dealing with electoral reform now under consideration in Congress.

Motorists Up Medical Coverage

LANSING (AP) — The trend today among insured Michigan motorists is to purchase more medical coverage and assume a greater amount of collision risk on their autos, the Michigan Insurance Information Service reports.

The most common limit for medical payments coverage today is $2,000, the service said, while the prevailing limit a few years ago was only $1,000.

The most common deductible coverage today is $100. Previously, most motorists purchased $50 deductible collision coverage on their autos, the service said.

Academy Director

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dr. Thomas G. Overmire of the Commission on Undergraduate Education in Biological Sciences in Washington, has been named the first full-time executive director of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters.

The academy recently established permanent headquarters through a $125,000 grant from the Kellogg Foundation.

Russ Favors Orbital Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Department officials say they think the Soviet Union has decided to deploy a system of bombs which could be rocketed into space and fired before completing their first orbit.

They indicate that accumulating evidence, presumably gathered from Soviet tests monitored by the United States, points toward the Kremlin's intention to mount the program, called a Factional Orbital Bombardment System.

This conclusion comes only a month after Clark M. Clifford, in his final report as secretary of defense, said the United States was uncertain about Soviet use of the FOBS.

Pentagon sources said, however, the Clifford statement reflected assessments made in the last months of 1968.

An FOBS would be boosted into a low orbit, generally about 100 miles above Earth, and would be fired by remote control at ground targets before completing its first circuit.

The low altitude would enable the orbital bomb to avoid detection by U.S. early warning radar.

Conduct B Tests

Officials refuse to discuss intelligence, but it is known that the Russians have conducted at least 13 FOBS tests. The first seven reported flopped, but the next six were said to have worked.

The Soviet Union's experiments with an orbital bomb were disclosed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara Nov. 3, 1967.

He downrated it, saying it would be too inaccurate for a satisfactory attack on U.S. intercontinental missiles protected in underground silos. But he did say the Russians might consider using it for surprise attack against such "soft land targets" as bomber bases.

In spite of the surprise potential of an orbital bomb, the United States has been developing radar that can "see" over the horizon, giving the alarm shortly after such a warhead is launched.

Missile Defense

Another possible defense could come from the Sentinel missile defense system, according to testimony Thursday from Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that among the options being studied in a review of the now suspended Sentinel program are means to protect against an orbital bomb attack.

One of Laird's statements that attracted considerable attention was his disclosure that the So-

Ask Ruling On College Paper

ALLENDALE (AP) — Grand Valley State College and Ottawa County authorities have asked the state attorney general for a ruling in their dispute over the school newspaper.

The student newspaper, The Lantern, suspended publication temporarily Dec. 3 after an injunction was issued against it for printing dirty four-letter words.

The attorney general was asked for a ruling after the college agreed to withdraw a suit filed in U.S. District Court against Ottawa County Prosecutor James Bussard and Sheriff Bernard Gryson. The suit was filed by the college after it charged the county action threatened the principles of freedom of speech and the press.

The attorney general has been asked to rule on four questions: —Did the injunction served without notice violate either the students' or college's constitutional rights of prior notice and hearing?

If the prosecutor had cited the state's obscenity law, would such an injunction have been a violation of constitutional rights to prior notice and hearing?

—Was the padlock law injunction against future unwritten issues of The Lantern a violation of either the students' or college's constitutional rights to freedom of the press?

—If the prosecutor had cited the state's obscenity law, would such an injunction against future unwritten issues of The Lantern have been a violation of freedom of the press?

News Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has wound up hearings on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty with all signs pointing to approval of that pet administration project but mounting trouble for another.

PARIS (AP) — The adversaries in the Vietnam peace talks may be on the extreme edge of the common ground which U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declares is necessary for a start toward a settlement.

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan, bowing before four months of massive opposition pressure, announced today he is quitting at the end of this year. He has been president since 1958.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern says his investigation of malnutrition in the nation shows a change of attitude in Congress and the White House indicating a real "commitment to end hunger in the United States."

LONDON (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle of France has secretly proposed summit talks with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson to discuss a new political system supplanting the Common Market, British sources reported today.

Blast Shatters Supermarket In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — A powerful explosion shattered Jerusalem's biggest supermarket today as about 200 shoppers were stocking up for the start of the Sabbath at sundown. Two university students were killed and an Australian major and seven women were wounded. Three of the women were reported in serious condition.

Police Minister Eliahu Sasson said the "vile attack" was obviously linked to the Arab guerrilla attack Tuesday on an Israeli airliner in Zurich, Switzerland.

"Somebody standing next to me was virtually blown to bits," said Yosef Polishuk, who worked behind the meat counter. He said the explosion blew him over.

In the supermarket building, across the street from the King David Hotel, was broken glass and groceries were splattered all over the walls and floors. All the windows were blown out.

Another package of about two and a half pounds of explosives was found in a candy box on the wine counter, police said. It was timed to go off an hour after the first explosion.

U.S. Economy Remains Bullish

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department says indicators were uniformly bullish in January, showing no signs of the long-awaited—and predicted—slackening of the economy.

"All of the broad economic measures now available were up over the preceding month," said the department, including employment, wages and salaries, industrial production, retail sales and housing starts.

"Wholesale prices advanced sharply according to advance reports," said the department's monthly summary of the business situation. "In credit markets, heavy demands coupled with restrictive monetary policy brought interest rates to new peaks."

The report made no reference to last week's meeting in Paris of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, at which U.S. officials were quoted as saying the long awaited slowdown was at last developing.

"In general, we are on the right course," Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the Council of Economic Advisers, highest ranking member of the U.S. delegation, told newsmen.

Gold Cup Officials 'Think Snow' For Races

By DAVE ANDREWS

GLADSTONE — In the year of the big snows, it seems a little incongruous that officials of the Gladstone Yacht Club would be "thinking snow" but that's exactly the situation today on the eve of the International Gold Cup Snowmobile Race weekend.

After record snowfalls in December and January, the weatherman has failed to deliver in recent weeks and the failure to receive significant snowfalls has complicated preparations for the $7,500 derby.

Plans to parade snowmobiles through downtown Gladstone both tonight and Saturday are in jeopardy because of the bare city streets, according to Thomas Aas, general chairman.

"There will be parades, but we're just going to have to play it by ear," Aas said.

Otherwise, all appears ready for the high-powered snow sleds tomorrow and Sunday.

Aos said a "little work" remains to be completed on the half-mile oval track located north of the Gladstone Yacht Club, but the 30-mile cross country course is marked and ready to go.

"A little snow this past week sure would have helped, though," Aas said.

The chairman explained that while the City of Gladstone has cooperated with the race committee in dumping snow from city streets near the yacht club, recent thawing weather and rain earlier this month have made the snow piles difficult to work with. Three or four inches of new snow would have been welcomed, he said, to use in smoothing out the track.

Many of the contestants for the Michigan Snowmobile Association sanctioned race program Saturday and Sunday were expected to arrive in Gladstone today and tonight. Others will arrive Saturday morning for the cross country registration at the Yacht Club between 9 and 11:30 a. m.

First machines to roar across Little Bay de Noc to the course on the Stonington Peninsula will leave the starting line about the same time as the noon Queen's Luncheon gets underway at the James T. Jones School.

One of five girls — Suzi Bauman, Laurie Kauffman, Ruth Martin, Kristen Olson or Debbie Nolan — will be crowned International Gold Cup Queen at the luncheon by Jack Drees, nationally known sports commentator. Drees, who also will serve as Grand Marshal of Saturday night's parade with the Queen, is expected to arrive in Gladstone about 10:20 a. m. Saturday.

A large field of snowmobile drivers from all over Michigan, northern Wisconsin and the Upper Midwest area is expected for the competition. Race officials have set a limit on entries to 400.

Spectator activity will increase Sunday with the start of competition racing on the half-mile oval track. A year ago an estimated 6,000 fans turned out on a weather-perfect day.

The official press party is scheduled from 4-6 p. m. today at the Yacht Club, by invitation only. Tonight's parade will get underway at 6:30 p. m. and will be followed by a public dance at the Yacht Club at 9:30.

Drivers will compete in both modified and stock classes Saturday and Sunday. Powderpuff and junior competition also is scheduled.

Big Bay Schools Seek Building Bond Approval

Big Bay de Noc School District will seek a solution to its new school financing problem at a meeting with similarly troubled school districts at Lansing on Feb. 26.

The problem is lack of approval by bonding attorneys of the Michigan K-12 School Reorganization Act as a secure base for school bonding.

The Big Bay de Noc School District was organized by the consolidations of the Fairbanks, Garden and Nahma township school districts in eastern Delta County and the Inwood (Cooks) Township District in Schoolcraft County. The new district in an election in September, 1968 authorized bonding for $12 million to construct a new central school providing classrooms and other facilities for instruction from kindergarten through the 12th grade to house all the district's instruction.

Can't Sell Bonds

The district has not been able to sell its bonds and proceed with construction of a building being planned by Mayotte & Webb, Lansing architects, because of a lawsuit downstate affecting a bond issue by a school district organized under the K-12 Act.

This Chippewa Hills School District has taken the initiative in calling a meeting of responsible state officials, bonding attorneys and other interested persons to resolve its problems and that of six other school districts.

Chippewa Hills is a consolidation of the former Barryton, Mecota - Remus, Fouts and Weidman school districts effected in July, 1967 and it obtained voter approval of a $3 million bonding issue to build a new high school. A group of Cass County citizens attacked the constitutionality of the K-12 Act (289) in a lawsuit which went to the Michigan Court of Appeals, where the law was upheld.

Hope To Top Blood Quota

Can Delta County meet its February quota for the Red Cross bloodmobile next week? The Red Cross hopes so, for the county came near the mark at the last visit of the bloodmobile, and the blood is vitally needed in the blood bank's "save a life" campaign.

The goal for the three-day visit of the bloodmobile is 292 units, with the quota 62 units for Gladstone and 230 in two days in Escanaba.

The bloodmobile will be at the James T. Jones School in Gladstone on Tuesday, Feb. 25, from 3 to 7 p. m.; and in Escanaba at the Teamsters building on Wednesday from 2:30 to 7:30 and on Thursday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Individuals are asked to make appointments for the day and place of their choice, or they may become "walk-ins" if they are unable to determine when they could appear. Appointments may be made through employers, service clubs or by calling the Red Cross.

Not all the districts consolidated under the K-12 Act are affected by the lawsuit downstate, just those in which a group of former districts with no high school program formed a secondary education system, according to Chippewa Hills spokesmen.

Since these districts would revert to their old legal form if the K-12 act were declared unconstitutional, there would be no district which could be held legally liable for debts incurred in bonding for high school construction.

Had High Schools

The Big Bay District was created by consolidation of four districts which all had high schools except Fairbanks Township, said Frank Stupak, superintendent of the district, but it is affected by the bonding attorney hang-up nevertheless.

Stupak said that Big Bay District will be represented at the Feb. 26 Lansing meeting by Carl Van Remortel, president of the Big Bay board of education; Walter McClintock, superintendent of the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District; and himself.

The other Upper Peninsula school districts affected by the bonding hang-up are Ewen-Trout Creek Consolidated Schools and Tahquamenon Area Schools.

Resource Development:

Seek To Help Beef, Fishing Industries

Proposals to assist two food industries of the region—beef raising and the commercial fishing industry—were approved by the Northern Great Lakes Resource Development committee in meeting at St. Paul, Minn., on Wednesday.

Members of the Development committee from the Upper Peninsula attending the meeting were Roy A. Jensen of Escanaba and Fred H. Hahne of Manistique.

Beef Research
One project calls for the establishment of a beef enterprise demonstration center at Chatham in Alger County; and by resolution the other request is for federal projects to help the ailing Great Lakes commercial fishing industry.

Beset by tightening state regulations that may put gill net fishermen out of business, the Development committee called on reimbursement of fishermen "who are legislated out of business", and asked that the lamprey control program on the Great Lakes be continued.

The beef raising demonstration and research project will cost an estimated $90,000 and won the approval of the Development committee.

The project will build two 50-head beef enterprise demonstration centers, one at Chatham here in the Upper Peninsula and the other at Lake City in the Lower Peninsula.

Michigan State University extension service will do the research which will show farmers an actual five-year demonstration of all phases of profitable cow-half beef farming. Such operations make use of natural forage to provide cattle that can be fed out to market weight in feed lots.

Lamprey Control
Extension service spokesmen said the program fits the trend of moving the source of supply closer to the market. In Michigan alone, 200,000 beef cows could be raised on a million acres of land now idle, it has been pointed out. Michigan produces only 30 per cent of the beef cows it needs.

Abandoned dairy farms have the opportunity to convert to beef raising under the program whose profitable showing is expected to be enhanced by the research project to be centered at Chatham for this region.

The condition of the commercial fishing industry has been presented to the Resources Development committee in the past and was reviewed at the sessions in St. Paul this week. Adoption of resolutions designed to aid the fishermen were adopted.

Sufficient funding of sea lamprey control on the Great Lakes is one of the essentials for the preservation of large fish that make up the bulk of the food fish harvested on the Lakes. Lake trout and whitefish are chief victims.

The United States and Canada cooperated in the lamprey control program, and its continuance is necessary, the resolution points out. "The success of state, federal, and provincial programs of stocking trout and salmon are directly dependent on the control of the sea lamprey," the committee noted.

Fishing Laws

The committee asked that the United States provide the full amount ($1,265,000) requested by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission to continue the lamprey control program.

The resolution calling for reimbursement of the commercial fishermen for their losses cites that the fishermen have, over the years, made a substantial investment in equipment and plants to harvest Great Lakes food fish.

Lamprey have decimated the lake trout populations, and new programs of salmon planting by Michigan include restriction and prohibiting of the use of gill nets by the fishermen to control the take of salmon.

"The emphasis of the states bordering the Great Lakes appears to encourage and favor a sports fishing development program, and new state restrictions and laws have now curtailed the commercial fishing industry to a non-profit position," the committee noted in asking that fishermen be reimbursed for being "legislated out of business."

UAW Official Not Confirmed

Kenneth Robinson of Grand Rapids, regional director of the United Auto Workers and semi-frequent visitor to Escanaba for the union, has been denied confirmation for reappointment to the board of control of Grand Valley State College downstate.

Nevertheless Robinson will continue to serve in the job to which he was appointed for a term expiring Dec. 1, 1972 by former Gov. George Romney because the Senate failed specifically to reject him. The Senate was reacting strong against permissiveness on Michigan's college campuses when it denied Robinson confirmation, 14 for and 15 against. Twenty votes were needed for confirmation.

The use of objectionable language in the student newspaper and permissiveness on the part of university officials became the major issues in the debate over Robinson's confirmation. His qualifications were not necessarily at issue.

Grand Valley's board has been engaged in a legal dispute with the Ottawa County sheriff's department, which tried to stop publication of the school paper. The board obtained a court injunction to prevent the sheriff action and the issue was settled out of court through Senate mediation.

Senator Robert J. Huber (R-Troy), chairman of a special legislative committee investigating colleges said "The question is not Mr. Robinson, the question is 'Do we want that type of trustee?' He was part of a unanimous group that wanted to show up the people of the state. We (senators) are going to fight any time we see this kind of permissiveness. If we don't we are saying in effect to the students, 'We support the people who allow you to run wild on campus.'"

Retail Division Probes Problems Of Shoplifting

BY DAVE ANDREWS

A teenage girl walks into an Escanaba store and leaves with an extra skirt beneath the one she was wearing when she entered.

A boy in another store takes a pair of pants off a counter and strolls out the door, pocketing the $10 his parents gave him to pay for them.

In another store, cash disappears from an employee's purse she had left for "safekeeping" in a backroom.

These problems and others were considered in a discussion of the growing problem of shoplifting by Escanaba Police Chief Richard Frederick and Prosecuting Attorney John Beauchamp at the meeting of the Retail Division of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce at the Sherman Hotel Thursday.

How serious is the problem? Plenty, Frederick and Beauchamp agreed.

One merchant says he loses an average of $15 per day from his store, a total which accumulates to nearly $4,500 per year. Another said shoplifting losses have increased 25 per cent in each of the past three years, despite efforts to curtail the activities.

Growing Crime

Nationally, Frederick said, FBI statistics indicated that as much as $2 billion worth of merchandise was carried off in 1968. In the past five years, according to J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, shoplifting has increased 79 per cent as the fastest growing crime in the country.

In Escanaba, the biggest shoplifting problem is with juveniles—and with girls rather than boys—despite police statistics which show that out of 48 cases reported in 1968 there were 48 boys involved and only 15 girls.

"The juvenile boys look like the biggest offenders," Frederick told the retailers, "but in dollar value they're not. The 15 girls account for more dollar loss."

Boys, he said, tend to take smaller items—candy bars, cigarettes, small toys—while girls go for clothing, cosmetics and jewelry. In addition, Frederick added, boys over 17 years of age rarely do any shoplifting. With girls, age seems to be no barrier.

"They call it the housewives crime," Frederick said.

Safeguards Listed

Frederick said, however, that there are things merchants can do to guard against shoplifting losses, including careful screening of employees before they are hired. He also urged that back doors be locked, except when used as a customer entrance and in those situations a close watch be kept on the door.

Suspicious behavior also can be kept under surveillance.

Although it's difficult to "type" a shoplifter or spot one walking into a store, certain clues can be useful in detecting shoplifting activity, he said.

If a customer's face is flushed or he is perspiring when other customers aren't, if he looks startled when approached, or if he seems more interested in the people around him than in the item he is holding, Frederick warned merchants to stay alert. He also urged a close watch on people who spend a long time at a single counter, make repeated trips to fitting rooms or make hasty exits from a store.

Beauchamp said there are two laws which can be used to prosecute offenders—simple larceny and larceny from a building.

Simple larceny involves taking of property without the consent of the owner and carrying it away with felonious intent to steal. Larceny from a building involves taking of property without the owner's consent and removing it from the building.

Must Prove Intent

As far as prosecution for simple larceny is concerned, Beauchamp said, there normally would be no difficulty in proving that someone had taken property without consent of the owner, but the question of intent to steal is difficult to prove if the individual is still in the store.

He said, however, that owners should not be afraid to notify police or to detain persons known to have "pocketed" merchandise just because the person hasn't left the building. If a person has merchandise taken from the third floor or the first floor, or if a person is sufficiently distant from a cash register, it is not necessary for a shoplifter to be apprehended outside the building.

"Ideally," he said, "a shoplifter would be detained outside the store, be found with the goods and admit taking it, but every situation is different. I wouldn't hesitate to contact the police."

Awareness Increases

Besides increasing internal security, one merchant urged the others to press charges against offenders rather than to accept payment for the items taken in out-of-court settlements.

"Don't allow people to pay after they're caught," he said. Catching them is another proposition.

One thing, however, is certain. Merchants are becoming increasingly aware of shoplifting and the methods used by offenders. And as the awareness increased, so does the surveillance.

Taste Of Maple

Michigan State University has been trying with might and main to jiggle the Upper Peninsula's maple syrup business into greater activity.

MSU hasn't been successful in a big way yet, but it has certainly informed the area on this neglected resource of its hard maple forests.

It seems inevitable that eventually the Upper Peninsula will expand its maple syrup making, but it has for years seemed inevitable that the Copper Country would expand its growing of fine late season strawberries, and it hasn't done it.

The strawberry production volume remains fairly constant but the number of producers has declined sizably. Something of the same sort is happening in the sugar bushes; the evaporators get more efficient and the sap collection systems improve, but our volume of maple syrup production stays about the same; a few sugar boilers drop out of the business and a few enter it and it goes along as a farm enterprise when it is too late to log and too early to plow.

MSU is ideally equipped to develop this industry. It has immense expertise, both in the management of maple forests and in the collection of sap, the boiling of maple syrup and the marketing of it. Its people say that a good case can be made for the income potential of sale of sap or the making of syrup.

For one thing there's no surplus of maple syrup, which is a rare thing in any commodity in the food line. The market will take all that can be produced, and in all the world it can be produced only in our northern hardwood forest area that includes the Lake States and New England. The Upper Peninsula has three to four million acres of this type of forest in which hard (sugar) maples are the dominant tree, and they are the climax tree, besides, meaning that our future growth will tend naturally toward the production of sugar maple stands — beautiful all the year, spectacular in fall foliage and sugary sweet in the spring.

Syrup boiling is one of the oldest trades in America, the first explorers found the Indians doing it. We can make much better syrup than the Indians did with our vacuum plastic tube line collection of sap, rapid evaporation, quality controls and fancy marketing but most of our sugar maples go untapped today. They're much more apt to have a sapsucker drill holes in them with his bill than to have a sugar bush operator pink them with his portable power drill for a tap. Sap is worth 5 1/2 to 6 cents a gallon and maple syrup is worth about $6 a gallon wholesale, but until we move from the farmer's "pin money" making of maple syrup into commercial operation with central evaporators serving sizable areas of sap collection it doesn't see likely that we'll get big in this business. The success of one such enterprise would probably result in more of them and we'd tell the sapsuckers to find their own trees, that we were tapping ours.

The Gain In Spain

Once considered a backwater of dictatorship and economic and social stagnation, ostracized by the United Nations and excluded from Marshall Plan aid after World War II, Spain has suddenly emerged as one of the fastest developing nations in the world.

The Spaniards, seemingly left behind in the 18th century, are catching up with the 20th century, writes British author Raymond Palmer in IBM's Think magazine. Everywhere one looks, buildings are rearing up, smooth highways are stretching out, excavators are digging down.

He quotes one resident of Madrid: "We have gone from shoe leather to traffic jams overnight. A few years ago only one family on my street had a car. The other night I came home and couldn't find anywhere to park."

The turning point for Spain came in 1953, when the United States negotiated the use of military bases in return for economic aid, an action that caused much anguish among many liberal Americans. A few years later, a tourist boom began, which continues today, and international credits started flowing in.

At the end of 1967, Spain left the ranks of the developing countries of Europe, ahead of Greece, Portugal, Turkey and Yugoslavia. Its per capita income passed the magic $700 level that separates the developed from the developing countries. In 1960, per capita income was a mere $200.

Spain's gross national product has been growing by more than 7 per cent a year, a rate higher than any other Western country. Its exports rose by 22 per cent in 1966 proof of the continuing integration of the Spanish economy within the world economy.

Spain has had an application for membership in the European Common Market pending since 1962 and now wants to become a full-fledged member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, even though its bilateral agreement with the United States gives it equivalent protection.

Spain has become the world's leading tourist country, with the number of foreign visitors growing from 3.2 million in 1958 to 16.3 million last year — an increase of 450 per cent. Earnings from tourism have risen from $76.9 million in 1957 to about $1.1 billion last year — a 1,500 per cent increase.

Reds Let The Old Escape To Freedom

By TOM TIEDE
EAST BERLIN — (NEA) — Kurt Brenner, a half-crippled old man, is openly plotting to escape this Communist city.

He says he will wait until spring, when the weather is better. Then he will limp up to the border, snub his nose at the guards and pass boldly on through.

No one will stop him, he says, because his escape has the blessing of the official East German regime.

Kurt Brenner (not his real last name) has reached what Germans call the "die Bealterten des Friedens," the age of freedom. He is 66, retired and slowed down by an old leg injury.

So, by Communist charts of human efficiency, he is of no further productive or political use. And his exit to the West is permitted; even, in a way, wanted.

The Communist reasoning is starkly simple.

If Brenner stays in East Germany after retirement, he is a liability to socialism. If he leaves, he is a liability to someone else.

Therefore, Brenner's departure is an economic gain for East German officials. Otherwise, they would have to rebate the money he paid the socialist system while he worked.

For example, the state would have to provide him social security (called "Rente" here). It would also have to take care of his medical and drug needs. Even when he died, socialism would be saddled with the funeral bill.

This chilly logic, of course, applies not only to Kurt Brenner, but to most East Germans of advanced age: women 60 years and above, men 65 and over.

Each of them is annually permitted four weeks visitation in the West (an unheard of luxury for younger Communists). They can go and come back, or they can go and stay.

There are some exceptions. Communism forbids the departure of still-productive oldsters (scientists), enemies of the state (or close relatives of those enemies) and anyone who might be of some future value to the West.

But for the majority, retirement-exodus is quite permissible. And more and more are taking advantage.

Last year, Western figures indicate 11,134 old people left East Germany. Since 1961, when the Berlin Wall went up, more than 100,000 retired socialists have fled.

Even now, in the winter, the average is 15-25 a day.

For these people, the benefits of Western retirement go far beyond just the break-away from Communist influence. The refugees also obtain important economic dividends, improved living conditions and social rebirth in the West.

Kurt Brenner is a former postal employee. If he stayed in East Berlin, his monthly

"Rente" would be roughly $60 a month. On the western side of the border, it will be $125 or more.

Also, Brenner is partially crippled. A leg wound from the war. He thinks he can collect some kind of compensation for it, once he gets on the other side.

Then there will be the availability of modern medicines, the instant accessibility of all goods and the full fallout of the rest of freeworld technology.

Finally, and most important, for Brenner, there will be a long-awaited reunion with dozens of relatives long separated and anguished by walls and wires.

Unfortunately, Kurt Brenner's planned exit will not come without some hardships, both for himself and West Germany.

He will not be permitted to bring any money or papers or property along. He may move personal goods, but his bank account and real estate will be frozen.

Brenner's immigration will mean extra expense for West Germany. The estimate is that the influx of retired refugees since 1961 alone cost government welfare programs more $100 million a year.

But the cost and the hardships be damned. West Germany isn't kicking and Kurt Brenner isn't either.

Brenner says he can hardly wait. He says he counts the minutes. He has it all planned. He says the first thing he is going to do is find a bar on the other side of the wall, get a little drunk and spend the entire night bawling.

Win At Bridge

By JACOBY & SON

One way to get to four spades is to bid it. Sometimes you make your contract, sometimes you get set, but you do make it mighty hard for the other side to get into the bidding.

South had all this in mind when he opened with four spades. We wouldn't have made the bid. South had only six spades and also no singleton, and for all South knew his side belonged in a part score or in three no-trump.

We do have one strong feeling about this sort of bid. If you bid it, you should know how to play the hand.

South ruffed the third heart and drew trumps. Then he led a diamond and ducked in dummy. East overtook his partner's 10 with the jack and returned a club. South finessed dummy's jack unsuccessfully and could only make nine tricks. He pointed out that if he had made the alternate play of rising with the king of clubs and trying to break the diamonds, he would also have gone down.

He was right about that but should have made his contract. After ruffing the third heart he should have played his ace of trumps to see if anyone held all five. When both opponents followed, he should have abandoned trumps temporarily and ducked a diamond. Assuming East overtook his partner's 10 and returned a club, he should have played his king of clubs, ruffed a diamond with dummy's ace, led a third diamond with a high trump, entered dummy with the 10 of spades, ruffed a fourth diamond, drawn trumps and eventually discarded one of his clubs on dummy's fifth diamond.

This play would succeed against the actual holding and was sure otherwise to succeed provided there was no really bad suit break out against him.

Ann Landers

Girls Embarrassed By Gang Showers

Dear Ann Landers: Father has a 17-year-old illegitimate daughter. My sister and I are both teen-agers and we have known about Olivia for a long time but we've never met her.

Yesterday Dad received a telegram from Olivia saying her mother has kicked her out of the house. She is now living with neighbors but cannot stay there. Olivia wants to come and live with us.

Mom has said O.K.—on one condition Olivia must be introduced as a niece, not a daughter. No one outside the immediate family knows the real relationship and my mother says she just couldn't take the gossip.

My sister and I realize that Olivia's presence might cause problems but she has had a terrible life and maybe we can help her. We've tried to change Mom's mind but she is adamant. What should be done?—S. A. T.

Dear S. A. T.: Accept your mother's terms, but make it clear that Olivia understands the terms and that she is agreeable. Ordinarily I would not condone duplicity, but this is an extraordinary situation. Helping the girl should be the principal consideration and if this is the only way it can be done, then do it. (P. S.: You kids sound like a couple of terrific teen-agers to me. My hat is off to you.)

Dear Ann Landers: My daughters are 13 and 15 years old. They will both be enrolled in a new school next month. The school requires the girls to take gang showers after gym. They both feel this would be very embarrassing and I agree. Do you think girls should be forced to take showers in the presence of others?—MODEST MOTHER

Dear Modest: Girls who have a healthy attitude about their bodies pay little attention to each other during gang showers. Special circumstances, such as a deformity, or if a girl is too fat or under-developed, could alter the situation, however. These girls should be allowed to shower alone.

It goes without saying that all showering should be supervised by a teacher. If a girl shows undue interest in her classmates' nakedness, she should shower separately.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teen-ager who is writing about my grandparents who are not so grand. Last Sunday Dad left the house at 5:30 in the morning to help Grandma and Grandpa with things they should have hired a plumber and a painter for. Dad came home at 11:00 at night, so tired he fell into bed without even taking off his clothes.

Mom was very annoyed. This happens a lot. She says Dad owes his Sundays to his family. Dad says he has to be a good son or he will not be happy. What do you say?—CINCINNATI

Dear Cin: Your dad is still a little boy who is trying to win the love of his parents by knocking himself out for them. Your mother cannot change him, so I hope she will lay off even though she is right.

If you have trouble getting along with parents, if you can't get them to let you live your life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

David Scott Acts As Mission's Life Guard

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — David R. Scott, carrying a burden unlike any man before, will be the life guard on Apollo 9, starting a lonely vigil of safety for his crew mates as they test the untried lunar module.

Scott, a 36-year-old Air Force lieutenant colonel, remains in the command and service module, CSM on Apollo 9 while Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt and Russell L. Schweickart board the lunar module in space and fly up to 100 miles away from the mother ship in a rendezvous maneuver.

Should the lunar module, or LEM, malfunction, the lives of McDivitt and Schweickart will depend on the decisions Scott makes and on how well he is able to perform a complex rescue.

Schweickart. Nor will he transfer to the LEM while it's docked with the CSM, as will both Schweickart and McDivitt.

Neds Good Aim
But the success of the mission rests very heavily on Scott.

His first major job after Apollo 9 is launched into space is to separate the command module from the S4B, the third launch booster stage. He'll then fly the CSM out a few feet, turn around and return, nose first, to the booster stage.

Nestled in the end of the S4B is the LEM. Scott's job is to poke a probe on the nose of his command module into a 39-inch cone, called a drogue, covering a docking collar on the LEM.

If his marksmanship is good, the spacecrafts will lock together. Scott will "put it in reverse" and back away from the S4B, extracting the LEM now locked on the nose of the cone-shaped CSM.

This must be done properly before anything else in the flight is possible.

"Gate Keeper"
Then, 40 hours after the flight starts, Scott becomes the "gate keeper" for McDivitt and Schweickart. Scott will be in charge of removing and replacing the drogue, the probe and the CSM hatch. When he removes the heavy equipment, it opens a tunnel to the LEM. When he replaces them, the two spacecraft become separate vehicles again, although still locked together.

Scott will have to wrestle with this equipment six times during the next three days of the flight. Just before the start of their fifth day into the mission, McDivitt and Schweickart move over to the LEM through the tunnel for their fifth trip between the two vehicles.

Not For Earth Orbit
The pair power up the LEM, give Scott the green light, and the command module pilot retracts the probe and moves the CSM about 30 feet away from the LEM, now flying by itself for the first time.

LEM's first solo is a rough simulation of the job it was designed to do—carry two men from a mother ship orbiting the moon down to the lunar surface, something this country hopes to do in June or July.

But in Apollo 9, LEM will be flying where it was not designed to fly. The lightweight craft was built for lunar orbit, not earth orbit, and it is not equipped to survive a re-entry into earth's atmosphere. If it gets in trouble in earth orbit, LEM must return to the CSM or its crewmen perish.

Only Scott, flying the heavy command module designed for an earth landing, can prevent disaster if LEM falters.

Scott, the life guard, the one link to safety, is not waiting idly for the young bird to return home during the six hours of rendezvous maneuvering.

After the first separation burn, Scott plots maneuvers which would be a "mirror image" to those planned by the LEM.

Should the LEM fail to fire any of its planned burns at the correct time, Scott has 60 seconds to fire a "mirror image" burn. This would leave the spacecraft in the planned relative positions, and the LEM, if it has corrected its malfunction, could carry on with the rest of the rendezvous.

If the LEM is still disabled, Scott would do all of the rest of the rendezvous burns, bringing the spacecrafts together. This would enable him to rescue his teammates aboard the disabled LEM.

In effect, Scott will be doing everything that would be required of the command module pilot if he were actually performing the rendezvous himself. The only difference is that he will not light his rocket thrusters unless the LEM is disabled.

And at the same time, Scott must control and monitor the CSM, the most complicated flying machine ever made by man.

DAVID R. SCOTT — Command Module Pilot of Apollo 9 is a veteran of Gemini 8, which performed the first successful docking operation in space. The 36-year-old Air Force Colonel from San Antonio will fly the command module while Russell Schweickart and James McDivitt are aboard the lunar module during the 10-day Earth-orbiting mission.

Bills To Provide Free Legal Aid

LANSING (AP) — People who need legal aid but can't afford to pay for it would find help under two measures introduced Thursday in the state senate.

The bills are cosponsored by Sens. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, and Roger Craig, D-Deerborn, both attorneys. Richardson is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

One measure would provide for the defense of needy persons in criminal proceedings.

County boards of supervisors would be authorized to arrange for legal representation—through a public defender or court-appointed attorneys—for needy persons charged with felonies, misdemeanors or any offenses for which the penalty is possible confinement of at least three months or more than $100 fine.

The second bill would authorize the county supervisors to establish the office of public defender for the county.

The public defender—to be appointed by the board to serve at its pleasure or elected to a four-year term—would be a practicing attorney. He would have to have practiced in Michigan for at least one year prior to his selection, but would not be allowed to engage in private practice while in office.

Season Closing On Walleyes Is Set For Feb. 28

Michigan fishermen are reminded of a new change which closes walleye fishing Feb. 28 to match up with the end of the muskellunge and northern pike season in virtually all inland and Great Lakes waters.

Michigan's closing date for walleye fishing has been moved ahead from the former March 15 cut-off to give the fish more protection and to make the end of that season uniform with the one covering muskies and northern pike.

Explains Buddy Jacob, the

DNR's warmwater fish specialist:

"Walleyes play a beneficial role in helping control problem panfish populations, but there aren't as many of these predatory fish in most Michigan lakes as we'd like to see. As a result, the walleye season is being closed two weeks earlier in hopes of maintaining more of these fish which are quite vulnerable to fishing at this time of the year."

Feb. 28 also marks the end of all spearing through the ice, and sturgeon fishing in non-trout streams and inland lakes.

Auto thieves stole a record total of 650,000 individual vehicles in the United States during 1967.

First Deaths Of U.P. Deer

The first winter losses of deer in the Upper Peninsula through starvation have been reported.

Ralph Bailey, Marquette, regional game biologist for the Department of Natural Resources, says that three cases of deer starvation have been confirmed by department biologists.

One of the deer was found in mid-Menominee County. The other two were in the Silver Mountain deer yard in southern Houghton County.

The department earlier expressed fear of high losses of deer through starvation in Northern Michigan because of the early onset of winter conditions and exceptionally heavy and frequent snowfalls.

In the face of threatened losses, the department reversed its traditional stand against artificial feeding of deer and launched its much-publicized crash effort to bring food relief for whitetails through timber cuttings and the distribution of corn in critical areas.

Bailey said the department has hauled almost 3,000 bushels (about 84 tons) of surplus corn to the Upper Peninsula from the federal storage center at Red Granite, Wis. Private individuals have hauled another 442 bushels to the U.P.

About 1,900 bushels have been distributed in deer yards by sportsmen's club members and individual volunteers and the department has commitments from volunteers to distribute a lot more corn before the yarding season ends.

Mrs. Belvia Ann Lockwood was the first woman lawyer admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court, in 1879.

GLADSTONE Water Filtration Bids Go Over Cost Estimate

Engineers from Williams & Works, Grand Rapids, and members of the Gladstone city administration today began taking a hard look at bids received Thursday night on the city's proposed water filtration project.

Low bids on three contracts in the project totaled $897,557.50, nearly $100,000 over the estimated project cost of $800,000.

City Manager H. J. Henriksen said, however, that alternate proposals were included in the specifications for the water filtration plant and the engineers were looking at the alternatives as a possibility to reduce the cost.

Henriksen also said that it might be possible to eliminate the water main project at this time and proceed with construction of the filtration plant and a water storage reservoir with present financing. Engineering recommendation is expected next week, Henriksen said.

The City of Gladstone will finance the project through general obligation bonds approved by voters. It is expected that the bonds will be retired with revenue from the water plant and without an additional tax on residents.

Apparent low bidder on the water filtration plant contract was Champion, Inc., in the amount of $774,000.

The L. W. Brumm Construction Co. of Marquette was the apparent low bidder on the water main project with a quotation of $83,817.50. Lowest bid submitted for a steel water storage reservoir came from Universal Tank & Iron Works in the amount of $39,340.

City officials hope construction on the new facilities can begin this spring.

In other business, the City Commission accepted the bid of Escanaba Machine Co. to supply a garbage truck for the city.

Delivery is expected in 60 to 90 days.

Bidders on the water filtration project were:

Water Treatment Plant - Azco Engineers, Inc., $818,000; Champion, Inc., $774,000; Drake Construction Co., $778,950; Elzinga & Volkers, $795,800; R. J. Joiner & Co., $842,500; Walmer Mattila Contracting Co., $828,000; John F. Sadler & Co., $810,591.

Water Mains - L. W. Brumm, $83,817.50; Ed Johnson Contracting Co., Inc., $130,672; Julio Contracting Co., $137,421; Kakuk Excavating & Construction Co., $111,378; A. Lindberg & Sons, Inc., $104,782; Yalmar Mattila Contractors, Inc., $101,551; Reese Contracting Co., $226,563; Dick Schlitz & Sons Construction, $106,312.

Steel Water & Storage Reservoir - W. E. Caldwell Co., Inc., $50,376; Chicago Bridge & Iron Co., $44,000; Minneapolis Tank & Mfg. Co., $50,700; Pittsburgh Des Moines Steel Co., $50,600, and Universal Tank & Iron Works, Inc., $39,340.

Church Handles 'Mate Selection'

CALGARY (AP) — The church, Dr. Paul Popenoe told a young Canadian minister during lunch nine years ago, should move into the field of "lonely hearts clubs," because it has the confidence of society in matters of marriage and the family.

Rev. W. Edgar Mullen took the message from the director of the American Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles and fashioned it into a revolutionary church project scientifically designed to give men and women a better chance for happy marriage.

The Pastoral Institute, an ecumenical ministry of the churches of Calgary with the Rev. Dr. Mullen as its director, has blended research in the social sciences, data processing, experience and the pastoral resources of the church into a "mate selection" service.

Not Only Service
Open to members of all faiths, the Personal Acquaintance Service has one objective in mind—sound marriage.

"This is not just a mating service," Dr. Mullen says. "It is just one area of family life education and marriage counseling the institute is involved in."

"We know the problem at firsthand. We have worked for years with the widowed, divorced and single people... With the participation of the clergy and the congregations, men and women can have a better than average chance for happy marriage, with responsible freedom of choice, in spite of the suspicions and misconceptions that surround such unorthodox methods."

Not Realistic
The institute decided on a pastoral-scientific approach to its selection service because "the rate of divorce in Canada indicates that people are not realistic in the personal and social criteria by which they choose their mates."

Persons applying for membership in the Personal Acquaintance Service have to complete a questionnaire designed to assess temperament, sociability, conformity to social standards and attitudes toward sex, money and religion.

The cultural background of members will be assessed according to personal tastes and interests as well as occupation, education, socioeconomic status, racial and religious origins.

Sound marriage rather than exciting adventure will be the emphasis, Dr. Mullen says.

Backs Reading Bible In Space

LANSING (AP) — A Taylor housewife who believes there is a place for God in outer space won support from Gov. William Milliken and a standing ovation in the state senate Thursday.

Mrs. Loretta Lee Fry, who last month launched a petition drive to show public backing of Apollo astronauts who read the Bible to all America as they circled the moon Christmas Eve, visited Lansing briefly.

Milliken met Mrs. Fry and signed a petition, said Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Deerborn. Mrs. Beebe later introduced Mrs. Fry to the Senate.

Mrs. Fry, who started her petition drive through her daily radio program, "Bible phone opinion," said the campaign is designed to counter one by Mrs. Madelyn Murray O'Hair.

Mrs. O'Hair, whose actions resulted in banning prayer in the public schools, has said she would submit petitions signed by atheists to protest future Bible reading on space trips.

"She said she could get 28,000 signatures," Mrs. Fry said. "I knew we could get that many in Detroit alone."

The pro-bible in space petitioners now have more than 480,000 signatures with 10,000-12,000 more coming in every day, Mrs. Fry said, "and we're still mailing out petitions."

CONTEMPORARY DESIGN and New England styling are delightfully combined in this most distinctive two-story house, with the structural portion at the right housing a fireplaced living room that is deliberately isolated from the rest of the living area.

Two-Story Of Distinction

By ANDY LANG

Quite a departure from the designs of most two-story houses, this one includes innovations in both the floor arrangement and the exterior.

Immediately apparent on moving into the slate-floored foyer is that the living room is an entirely separate unit isolated from the balance of the house. A high wall at the front for privacy and large glass areas toward the rear garage combine to make this room livable and practical. Its focal point, an attractive fireplace, is on the wall opposite the foyer and thus quickly catches the eye of anyone entering the front door. The spaciousness of this entry is accentuated by an open rail stairs to the second floor and by the glass wall at the rear garden.

To the left of the foyer, the family room and the kitchen, in an open plan, have a sweep of 24'. The kitchen has been arranged by architect Herman H. York with the work triangle in mind, with generous counter and cabinet space. The kitchen will be bathed in light, not only from its own large window over the sink, but because of the 12 linear feet of sliding glass doors in the family room.

Next to the kitchen, between it and the two-car garage, is a laundry room, with space for a washer and dryer, a pantry and a mud closet. In this area, there are three doorways, one from the outside to the laundry room, a second from the outside to the garage, and a third between the laundry room and the garage.

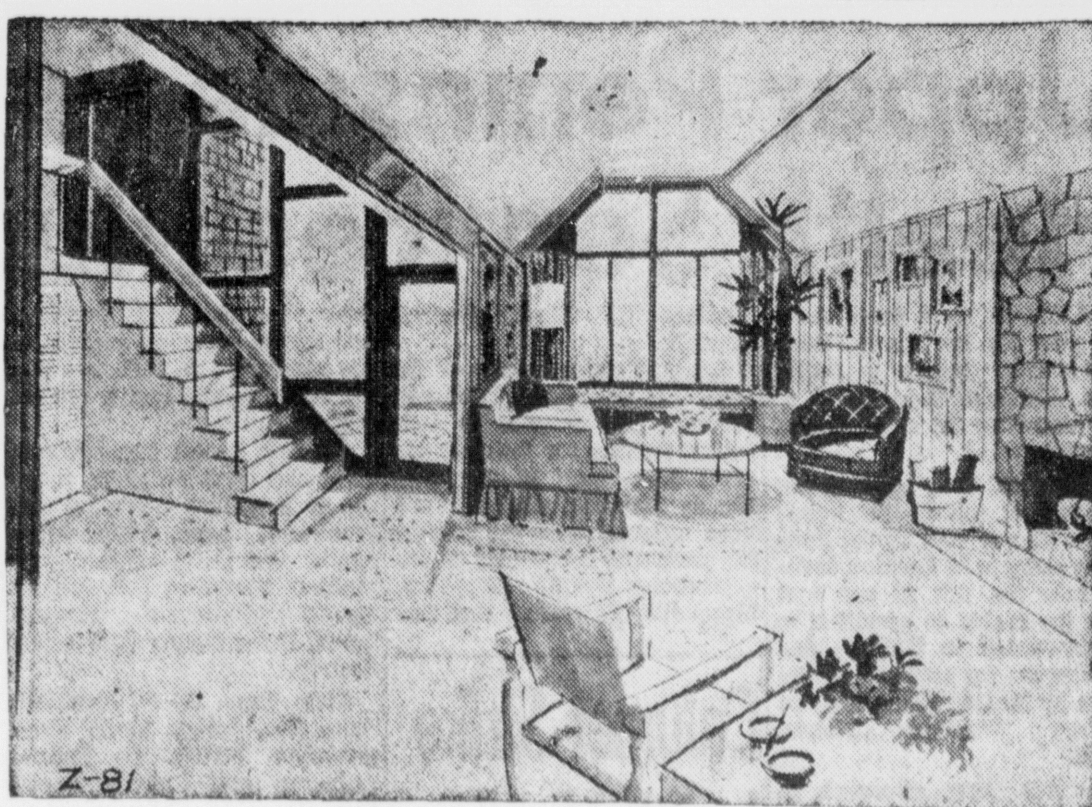

A separate dining room has a large triple window and is accessible directly from the main hall. Off the same hall are two guest coat closets and a powder room.

The second floor has a dramatic approach because the foyer is two stories high, with a balcony overlooking the area. There are three bedrooms. The owners have their own bathroom with a stall shower, while the hall bath has the tub and toilet separated from the lavatory-vanity area. One of the two closets in the owners' bedroom is of the walk-in type. Each bathroom has a window.

The unusual and interesting exterior is contemporary, but retains the residential character almost reminiscent of the "salt box" of New England. The large areas of shingled surfaces, both roof and side walls, make for an interesting relationship. A large wall of stone at the front of the living room, plus a stone chimney and several panels of stone at the front entrance, provide an individual character.

The roof lines sweep downward, balancing the appearance

LIVING ROOM at the right of the foyer stretches from the front to the rear of the house. Door at the front of second-floor stairway leads to outdoor area enclosed on three sides.

FLOOR PLANS: Different but practical floor arrangement keeps living room for formal entertaining while permitting the family room-kitchen, with a combined length of 24', to be used for informal living for members of the family as well as guests.

Heights Should Vary In Kitchen Cabinets

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You may be throwing your body out of alignment if your kitchen counters are the wrong height for your size, says Prof. Rose Steidl of the New York State College of Home Economics at Cornell University. The college had a booth at the Kitchen Showcase in New York where kitchen ideas for 1969 were exhibited.

"Women are adjusting to kitchens and not realizing it. They are working with arms extended and getting arm fatigue. Shorter women are working with surfaces that are too high, and in lifting things from their shoulders, they are throwing that part of their body out of alignment. This is true even though they maintain such postures for only five minutes," studies have revealed, she says.

It is a physiological fact, she points out, that slowed blood vessels cause muscle fatigue.

Prof. Steidl had a chart marked to determine distance from floor to elbows. Four inches is average. You deduct three inches to determine the ideal work surface for you. But other jobs require even lower surfaces.

Studies at Cornell have shown that to serve food, stack dishes and make sandwiches the counter should be three inches below the elbow. To mix batter, beat with an electric portable mixer, chop nuts or vegetables, the counter or pull-out board should be six to seven inches below your elbow. The rim of a sink should be two to three inches below the cooking surface of a range. Three to seven inches below. And a fully opened oven door one to seven inches below elbows will permit easy turning of roasts, etc.

If you'd like to measure your elbow height do this: Wear shoes worn usually in the kitchen, mark a corner wall in inches and stand straight against it, your back to the corner. Hold the upper arm generally used for food work against the lined wall, bend it at a right angle and mark the spot with the other hand, or someone can assist you.

This information may come in handy when you are buying or building a new house. Pass the information on to your builder and kitchen dealers. They may protest that there is no call for adjustable kitchen counter outfits. But, "if enough people ask for them, the manufacturers will make them," Prof. Steidl believes.

North Central Request Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has denied a request by North Central Airlines for fast consideration of its application to provide nonstop service between Lansing, Mich., and Chicago, and between Lansing and Saginaw-Bay City-Midland, Mich.

The board Thursday dismissed the application without prejudice to North Central's right to apply under the normal hearing procedure.

Board member G. Minetti said in a dissent that the application should be set for hearing since it involved limited issues of removal of intermediate-stop requirements into important markets in the heart of North Central's system.

Minetti said North Central's proposal would provide greater operating flexibility and a chance to use its jet fleet more productively.

He said North Central's proposal would appear to fill some service gaps, particularly between Chicago and Lansing, and would provide the first competitive nonstop service on that route and the first competitive one stop service between Chicago and Saginaw.

of the two-story structure against the length of the lower living room-foyer area. An interesting design detail is achieved through the use of long vertical louvers both in the garage and second floor. Note, too, the placement of the garage doors facing in toward the entrance approach.

An unusual two-story house is Design Z-81, but with all the elements for complete family living.

Draft Calls Remain High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, maintaining high induction levels this year, called today for the drafting of 33,000 men in April.

The Selective Service System was asked to draft 30,500 for the Army and 2,500 for the Marines. Draft calls have been relatively high this year as the Pentagon prepares to release thousands of Reservists and National Guardsmen who were ordered up in 1968 after the Pueblo crisis in Korea and the Tet offensive in Vietnam.

A total of 26,800 men were sought in January. Other draft calls this year included February's 33,700 and March's 33,100.

Firm To Solve Human Problems

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — Roy D. Chapin Jr., board chairman of American Motors Corp., suggested Wednesday night that a nationwide corporation be formed "whose products are solutions to human problems."

He spoke at the annual Brotherhood Week dinner in Kenosha.

"We should not agonize over where we have failed," he said, "but gain a renewed understanding of why we have been so successful in solving profound problems and then apply these insights to the problems of human understanding," he said.

2-Year-Old Dies Of Monoxide Gas

HONOR (AP) — A faulty auto exhaust has been blamed in the carbon monoxide death of 2-year old Tammy Robertson of Benzie County Wednesday.

Authorities said the wife and three children of Mr. Samuel Robertson were waiting in a car with the engine running for him to return from a shopping foray when they were overcome. The woman and two children were treated and released from a hospital.

Gunman Supports Man He Paralyzed

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — William Young, 32, of Fort Wayne, convicted of a 1964 shooting which left a man paralyzed, received a suspended jail sentence Wednesday "so that he will be able to support his victim." Judge W. O. Hughes suspended the 1-5 year sentence and said the amount of support will be set by a county welfare agency. He said Young will contribute to Joe C. Ridley's support "as long as I'm on the bench. When he stops paying he starts his prison term."

Upper Peninsula Plans Health Services Plunge

HANCOCK — A three and a half year job by Upper Peninsula health planners is nearly done. Although they see it as only one step in a continuing program.

A proposal to accept a 75 per cent federal share to match with a 25 per cent Upper Peninsula share is in Lansing, lacking only the full 25 per cent from the region to permit it to be forwarded to Chicago and Washington for review and decision by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Robert Finch.

In this new approach to health problem solving, all citizens, professional health agencies of local and state government and representatives of business combine their resources and energies to seek solutions of health needs of all citizens, said Harry Wenzel, community health consultant with the Western U.P. Health Service Council.

Some 50 endorsements of the concept of comprehensive health planning and of need to seek federal funding for the development first year of the U.P. Health Planning Council have been received from the following peninsula individuals or organizations: UPCAP; Houghton, Marquette, Keweenaw and Go-

Calumet Strike In 7th Month

CALUMET, Mich. (AP) — The Calumet and Hecla copper strike enters its seventh month Saturday. During that time some 1,000 wage earners had been out of work along with another 400 persons on commission or fee.

The 180-day strike has cost workers an estimated $3.3 million in lost wages and the company has lost some 30 million pounds of raw copper production and reprocessed scrap metal.

New Michigan Highway Map Distributed

Just about everything but the name and shape of the state has been changed on the 1969 edition of the Official Michigan Highway Map, the State Highway Commission said today.

The new map, now available for distribution, has been entirely redrawn, making it neater and easier to read.

Bordering states and Canada appear in one color, calling more attention to Michigan, and county roads appear in gray instead of black, calling more attention to the state highways.

Theme of the 1969 map is tourism, Michigan's booming billion-a-year-plus business.

The Commission is printing 1.3 million copies of the map, an increase of 300,000. The additional maps will be distributed to potential Michigan vacationers through facilities of the Michigan Tourist Council.

Most of the remaining maps will be distributed in response to mail and telephone requests. Request for 1969 maps should be addressed to official Michigan Highway Map, Michigan Department of State Highways, Post Office Drawer K, Lansing, Mich. 48904.

Stock Market Closed Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock markets were closed today for Washington's birthday following four days of retreat in which the Dow Jones industrial average plunged to its lowest level in five months.

The Dow index fell Thursday to 916.65, down 8.45 for the day and more than 35 points for the week.

Volume was comparatively light Thursday—10.99 million shares compared with 10.39 million sold Wednesday.

Analysts credited the steep decline to a carryover of news the market had found unsettling. They cited speculation by government officials about the possible continuation of the 10 per cent surtax and speculation about new monetary restraints in the battle against inflation.

state multi-county areas such as the 5-county Kalamazoo Council, the Greater Kent County Council, the 3-county Ingham County Council and the 7-county Greater Detroit Council," explained Wenzel.

Except for Saginaw and Upper Lower Michigan, the Upper Peninsula will be last to organize for health services.

A final meeting will be held at Northern Michigan University on Saturday for last minute, minor revisions and corrections of the proposal. Principally, planners will seek solutions to the funding obstacles or $31,882; 10 cents a head in the Upper Peninsula is needed.

Bishop George R. Selway

Confirmation Sunday At St. Stephen's

The Rt. Rev. George R. Selway, D. D., Episcopal Bishop of Northern Michigan, will make an official visitation to St. Stephen's church, Escanaba, on Sunday, Feb. 23.

Bishop Selway will preach at the 10 a. m. service and administer the Rite of Confirmation to a class prepared by the Rev. Ben F. Helmer, rector of St. Stephen's.

Members of the class, the first to be confirmed in the new St. Stephen's, are: Douglas Randall and Russell James Ayres, Valerie Ettenhoffer, Kathleen Sue Herro, Jeffery Earl Premo and Mrs. Erwin Metevier.

The Order of Confirmation is composed of two parts: Man's part and God's part. Man, on his part, must, by renewal of his baptismal vows, make a solemn declaration of repentance, faith and obedience, and a promise of loyal service through the following of Jesus Christ as Lord and Master.

Then, through the Laying on of Hands by a Bishop of the Apostolic succession, and with prayers, God confers the gift of the Holy Spirit to strengthen those confirmed with divine power to enable them to wage a successful warfare against sin and evil. Confirmation is the ordination of the laity for service in God's Kingdom. It imposes a solemn responsibility.

A reception honoring the Bishop and the confirmands will be held immediately following the service in the parish hall. The women of St. Stephen's are in charge of the arrangements.

Later in the day, the Bishop will meet with the officers of the Vestry of St. Stephen's to discuss trends in the life of the Parish as well as in the Diocese and the Church at large.

Holy Name Plans 'Oliver'

The Drama Club of Holy Name High School will present "Oliver" as their third annual musical, March 8-11.

Based on Charles Dickens' classic Oliver Twist, the play is an impressive adaptation of an oft-told tale.

The story concerns a youngster born in a workhouse and seemingly destined for a life of heartbreak, his escape from his miserable surroundings and his meeting with the wily Fagin and his friends, Nancy and Bill Sikes. Music and lyrics by Lionel Bart mirror the picture's somber mood.

The musical will be performed in the Holy Name multipurpose room, under the direction of Brother Christopher, Sister Henriette, Mrs. Donald LeMire, and Brother Anthony. Curtain time is 8:00 p. m.

Tickets are available from all Drama Club members or by calling Kathy Groleau at 786-7550. Reserved tickets are also being sold.

Most Escanaba Stores Advance Closing Time

The majority of retail stores in Escanaba will initiate a new closing hour of 5 p. m. instead of 5:30 p. m., effective Monday for all days except Friday.

Action on the new closing time was approved by 42 of 48 retailers, according to a report at the Retail Division meeting of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

Some stores, however, will continue to observe the present closing time of 5:30 p. m.

All-Year Sport Fishing To Open On Bark, Days

Beginning Saturday, March 1, more than 50 Great Lakes streams — including the Bark, Days and Sturgeon Rivers in Delta County, the Big Cedar River in Menominee County and the Milakokia River in Schoolcraft County — will be opened year-around to steelhead, salmon and brown trout fishing, the Dept. of Natural Resources announced today.

Waters coming under the new season are in addition to other designated streams where steelhead, salmon and brown trout will be legal from April 5 through December 31. The 1969 list of those streams is essentially the same as last year.

To Ease Pressure?
Waters billed for early action March 1 are mostly lower reaches of big streams where steelhead, brown trout, and salmon do not spawn, the department said. Consequently, hook and line fishing can be liberalized in these stretches without threatening natural reproduction of the fish, specialists assured.

In opening these Great Lakes tributaries to year-long fishing, the Department also hopes to take of some of the heavy pressure which might otherwise occur on smaller spawning streams when they join the action April 5.

When the new season debuts March 1, fishermen should find salmon in some of the streams of southwestern Lower Michigan, says Dave Borgeson, trout and salmon specialist. Farther north, in such waters as the Manistee, Lower Pere Marquette, and White rivers, there will be steelhead to be caught.

Size Limit Changed
Fishermen were reminded, however, of a change this year which has raised the legal size limit on trout and salmon, except brook trout, from 7 to 10 inches.

The idea is to protect young steelhead and salmon until they leave the streams and have a chance to grow bigger in the Great Lakes.

Another change which early anglers should keep in mind is the new, creel and possession limit for trout and salmon — except brook trout — which is five, singly or combined, in all waters.

Following is the list of Upper Peninsula streams, their upstream limits and county or location which come under the new, year-around season:

- Lake Michigan
Bark River, Delta County, bridge in Section 14, T37N, R24W; Big Cedar, Menominee County, McCarty Bridge; Days River, Delta County, golf course bridge, Section 4, T40N, R22W; Milakokia River, Schoolcraft County, County Rd. 432, Section 1, T41N, R13W; Milicoquin River, Mackinac County, Milicoquin Lake; Sturgeon River, Delta County, Federal Forest Highway 13 bridge;
- Lake Superior
Carp River, Marquette County, Rainbow Falls, Section 10, T49N, R46W; Chocoyal River, Marquette County, U.S. 41 bridge; Dead River, Marquette County, tourist park dam, Section 10, T48N, R25W.

National Cherry Queen Is On The Move

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Red has proved a fortunate color for 18-year-old Julie Anne Hamilton. She won the Miss Red Flannel title in her hometown of Cedar Springs, Mich., and as a result received an invitation to compete for the chance of reigning as the National Cherry Festival queen.

Julie won the title last July during the festival at Traverse City, Mich., and she was here Tuesday to promote the reduced product of her state.

As Red Flannel queen, she said, she didn't get to go anywhere. Now that she's promoting Michigan's staple fruit, Julie's been outside the state for the first time in her life and traveled aboard an airplane—another first.

From here she goes to Tennessee as part of a swing that will carry her through the Carolinas, Washington, D.C., and New York, another state known for its cherry production.

In the nation's capital, she will meet with Vice President Spiro Agnew. "We would have met President Nixon but he's going to be in Europe, explained Julie's chaperone, Mrs. J. Ray Valade of Traverse City. Julie's reign ends in July when she crowns her successor.

Linda Jean Lane And Thomas Kozar Are Wed

St. Joseph's Church in Escanaba was the setting Saturday, Feb. 15 for the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Linda Jean Lane of Escanaba and Thomas Jon Kozar of Rte. 1, Escanaba.

The Rev. Isidore Walter officiated at the nuptials at 12 noon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lane of 302 S. 16th St. and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James Kozar of Escanaba Rte. 1.

Maid of honor for her sister was Judy Lane and bridesmaids were Cheryl Destrampe, Joanne Steede and Wanda Anderson.

Serving as best man was Dennis Kozar, brother of the bride and groomsmen were Tony Lane, brother of the bride, Francis Johnson and Pete Debelak.

Italian Style

For her wedding, the bride chose an Italian styled wedding gown of rayon chiffon with a lace overlay fashioned with a scalloped neckline and short sleeves.

A petaled band headpiece secured her floor length lace mantilla veil and she carried an arrangement of red roses, pink mums and pink and white carnations.

The honor maid was attired in a floor length mint green rayon chiffon gown fashioned with a belt of flowers at the waist and wrist.

Yellow Chiffon

The bridesmaids wore floor length A-line gowns of yellow chiffon with matching headpieces. They carried carnation bouquets to match their gowns.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lane chose a green A-line dress styled with long sleeves and she wore matching accessories. Mrs. Kozar wore a navy blue three piece suit with matching accessories and both mothers were presented floral corsages.

Reception

The wedding reception was held at the Mead Rod and Gun Club. After a honeymoon trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will reside at 302 S. 16th St.

Both young people are graduates of Escanaba Area High School and Mr. Kozar attended school in lower Michigan. He now plans to attend Bay de Noc Community College.

Lady Composers Feel They Are Underrated

NEW YORK (AP) — The distinguished woman composer smiled thinly.

"They think they're paying me the highest compliment when they tell me, after a performance of one of my works, 'My, it sounds just like it was written by a man!'" said Elinor Remick Warren of Los Angeles.

A pretty, reddish-brown-haired mother of three, Mrs. Warren was one of five composers represented in a concert here Tuesday evening that one of the women called the best concentrated effort ever made in behalf of women composers.

Varied Works

Besides Mrs. Warren's "Sonnets for Soprano and Strings," the program included "Sonata for Viola and Piano," by Elizabeth Gould of Toledo, Ohio; "Three Observations for Three Woodwinds," by Mabel Daniels of Boston; "Six Etudes for Piano," by Louise Taima, professor of music at Hunter College, New York City and "Quartet for Strings," by Julia Smith, a Texas-New York composer.

Of the five composers only Mabel Daniels, now in her 89th year and still composing, didn't make it to New York to hear her work performed.

Well Received

The capacity audience of about 250 that crowded the auditorium of Donnell Library Center applauded all the compositions enthusiastically.

Said Mrs. Maurice Honigman of Gastonia, N.C., president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, "Women have been considered second-rate composers for too long. If men composers heard this program they'd soon change their minds."

Composers Taima, Smith, Gould and Warren—with international reputations and perhaps more prizes won abroad than at home, denied personal discrimination.

But Miss Smith voiced a general complaint: "Women don't get the opportunities for performances or commissions that men do. 'Opera houses, for example, don't seem to mind having flops with men composers—so why can't they take a chance with women?'"

Ingrid Bergman To Make Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Her beauty undiminished at 53, Ingrid Bergman is here for her first Hollywood movie in 20 years.

"The last picture was 'Joan of Arc,' she recalls, "And that was a pleasant memory. When I first came to Hollywood 10 years before that, I wanted to play Joan. It had been my girlhood ambition, and I kept trying to persuade David O. Selznick to let me do it.

"Finally I had to go to Broadway to play 'Joan of Lorraine,' and then I came back and did the picture. I understand it was not a success in this country, but it was liked in Europe, in France, especially. Many times when I am traveling about the country, the French will say, 'Ah, here is our Joan!'"

In Comedy

The two-time Academy Award winner ("Gaslight," in 1944;

"Anastasia," 1956) has returned to Columbia Pictures, where she made "Adam Had Four Sons" 29 years ago. This time her vehicle is a comedy, "The Cactus Flower."

Some observers think it's odd casting for Miss Bergman to be playing the role created by Lauren Bacall in the Broadway version. But she remarked that she almost did the play on the London stage; only the illness of her daughter prevented her.

"And the movie script is somewhat changed from the play," she added. "Our script writer, Mr. (I.A.L.) Diamond went back to the French play from which 'Cactus Flower' came. So it is half French and half Abe Burrows." Burrows wrote the Broadway version.

Stage Performer

Although she has not done a film in Hollywood for two decades, Miss Bergman appeared at the Music Center last year in the Eugene O'Neill play, "More Stately Mansions."

The physical aspects of the town have changed immensely, she commented. But the studios remain the same.

"That's one thing that never seems to change," she said. "You go into a television studio and see the most modern equipment. But in the movie studios they still use the same ponderous cameras, the big lights. They are making films the same way they did 40 years ago.

"One thing is different, happily so. We have three weeks of rehearsal on 'Cactus Flower.' That is something I never had here before.

"When I made 'Gaslight,' I was introduced to Charles Boyer and was told 'Now you will step off the train and kiss him.' And we had only just met!"

It costs U. S. taxpayers an estimated $500,000,000 annually to remove litter from the streets, highways, beaches and other public property.

Griffith Show Out For Laughs

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Andy Griffith Special" on CBS Thursday night made some sort of current history. It cracked not one political joke, never tried to be satiric and wasn't particularly interested in getting laughs.

It did, however, strike one of the popular variety chords—nostalgia, the 30s and 40s again. Andy, in his only special of the season was really not too much in evidence and when he was it was not our old friend from Mayberry but a preacher and philosopher of sorts and once, straight man for Don Knotts.

After Janet Leigh had done a couple of dance numbers in a dream sequence that evoked Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers and George Raft—scarcely necessary since they are all still around on the late afternoon and early morning TV movies—the rather slow-moving hour wound up with Andy, artfully lit by floodlights, dramatically reciting James Weldon Johnson's "The Creation" against a background of choral music.

Tennessee Ernie Ford, along with Knotts, Griffith's favorite TV mate, imitated a singer of radio's golden days and told a ghost story.

The hour in many ways did not seem to come up to Griffith's early specials.

FUTURE BALLERINA concentrates on her exercises for there's no nonsense at the Junior Ballet School in Moscow. Hundreds of little girls are enrolled annually for the 10-year course, but most are weeded out after a few weeks. Those that remain know their training could be terminated at any time because they're not working hard enough or not showing enough talent. Competition in the school is intense for the reward is probably acceptance by the Bolshoi or Moiseyev Ballet schools, sources of the truly great ballerinas.

Youths Caught Kidnaping Woman

NOVI (AP) — A burned-out headlight may have proved a life-saver for a 74-year-old Novi woman who was kidnapped at knife-point from her isolated home Thursday night by two escapees from the Whitmore Lake State Training School.

The pair, one a juvenile and one a 17-year-old, escaped from the school Tuesday in a stolen car and drove into Detroit. Novi police said they swapped their car for a second stolen auto, then drove to rural Oakland County.

Thursday night, the pair appeared at the home of Otelia Thompson in northwest Novi, kidnapped her at knife-point and drove off in her car, police said. When the group reached Wixom, policemen Paul Green and Roger DeClercq stopped the car because one headlight was out and made the arrests, officers said.

Andy Griffith Finds Work Natural Thing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I think every grown man should work; it just ain't natural not to." So says Andy Griffith, and lest he get the reputation for being lazy, he was on television last night.

Eight years the star of "The Andy Griffith Show," he dropped off the weekly rating race this season while he was still ahead of the game. But it wasn't allergy to work that made him quit a show that was still one of television's winners.

"It was strictly an arbitrary decision on my part," said Andy. "I just figured it was time to quit and try something else. Heck, I enjoyed doing that show. But eight years was enough."

A major reason for his decision was the yen to go into feature movies again—he had an earlier career in such films as "No Time For Sergeants," "A Face in the Crowd," "Second Time Around," etc. Universal came along with a sweet deal for his own starring films, the first of which is being released now; it's called "Angel in My Pocket."

Griffith is also committed to CBS for occasional specials, and he'll be on Thursday night with buddies Don Knotts and Tennessee Ernie Ford. I found the trio rehearsing in a catering hall near the CBS studios, and that's when Andy made his remark about working.

"I haven't been doing a thing for a few months, and it's been drivin' me crazy," he remarked. "We were supposed to do this special last fall, but then the musicians' strike made us postpone until now. I'm tellin' you, I'm pleased to be workin'."

Still, he has no regrets about leaving the weekly grind. And he's delighted that his successor, "Mayberry RFD," starring Ken Berry, has continued high in the ratings.

Rock Album Called Obscene

LANSING (AP) — A Republican state senator waved an album of the "Revolutionary Rock Sounds of the MC5" at colleagues Thursday and called it an "obscenity."

Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, chairman of the Senate committee investigating campus disorders, quoted from a news story about the Detroit quintet's appearance in Lansing.

"The MC5 are a free, high energy source that will drive us wild into the streets of America, yelling and screaming and tearing down everything that would keep people slaves," Huber quoted.

He held the album at arm's length, showing senators sketches of the five musicians. The album "has these five kooks' pictures," he said. "It's a dandy looking group."

Huber said the album had been a gift.

Thief To Get Remedial Lesson
SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — If the person who stole what he thought was a television set Wednesday turns it on he'll get a lesson in remedial reading.
"It will flash something like the word 'horse' on the screen and say, 'Here is the word horse.' Then it will tell him how to spell 'horse'." Gerald Stinson, developer of the device, explained.
The machine, called an audioscan, looks like a miniature TV set, but actually is the prototype model of a touch-response device that teaches retarded children to read.
In Christian art, St. Christopher is usually depicted as a giant carrying the Christ-child over a river.

KKK Sticker Has New Meaning
DETROIT (AP) — A black businessman in Detroit has struck a bonanza with KKK bumper strips.
The letters, though, stand for three assassinated leaders, John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King and Robert F. Kennedy.
The bumper strips are being marketed by Earlel Green, 26, a Savannah, Ga. native. Green has already sold 3,000 of the stickers at 35 cents apiece and has ordered 10,000 more printed.
He says he was "struck by the coincidence that the slain men's initials should be the same as those of the Ku Klux Klan."
The stickers have just one problem — the three names are across the bottom, under the KKK. "Someone pointed out to me that if the bottom line became illegible for any reason," Green says, "the whole purpose of the stickers would be lost."
Green said he is revising the new batch to prevent that possibility.

Mahovlich, Hull Star In Two Puck Contests

By The Associated Press

Frank Mahovlich cut a fancy figure in the Detroit record book but Chicago's Bobby Hull upstaged the Big M with another three-ring caper.

Mahovlich scored his 37th goal of the National Hockey League season Thursday night, breaking the Detroit mark for a left wing, as the Red Wings blanked the Pittsburgh Penguins 3-0.

But Hull hit for three goals, boosting his league lead to 41—in the Black Hawks' 6-2 victory over the Oakland Seals.

The Montreal Canadiens edged Toronto 2-1 in the only other game scheduled and grabbed sole possession of first place in the East Division for the first time since early January.

Mahovlich, zeroing in on his best finish since 1960-61, when he potted 48 goals, eclipsed Carl Liscombe's 25-year-old Red Wing mark with a second period tally, helping Detroit move into third place in the East. Defense-man Paul Popiel's first period goal and Gordie Howe's 34th of the campaign completed the scoring.

Goalie Roy Edwards stopped 26 shots on the way to his fourth shutout as the Wings pushed ahead of New York by one point in the standings. Marv Edwards, making his NHL debut in the Penguins' nets, came up with 30 saves.

Hull, who fired 54 goals in 1965-66 for the all-time season record, exploded for three markers in the final period at Los Angeles. The blond jet hit from short range on a power play at the 5:50 mark, beat goalie Jacques Caron with a 60-foot slap shot at 12:49 and banged in Stan Mikita's rebound with 26 seconds to play, completing the hat trick.

Dennis Hull, Ken Wharram and Eric Nesterenko also scored for the Hawks. Bob Wall and Howie Hughes for the Kings.

Montreal, which last led the East Division race on Jan. 12, climbed two points ahead of the Boston Bruins by topping the Maple Leafs on Dick Duff's power play goal in the second period.

Jean Beliveau tallied his 32nd goal for the Canadiens in the opening period. Defenseman Pat Quinn countered for the Leafs in the middle session before drawing a tripping penalty that set up Duff's game-winner.

Toronto center Mike Walton missed the game and was suspended by Punch Imlach.

Center Forbes Kennedy of Philadelphia, the NHL penalty leader, also was suspended Thursday after an altercation with Coach Keith Allen at Montreal International Airport, where the Flyers arrived for a Saturday game against the Canadiens.

Beck, Haglund Retain Great Northern Leads

Mike Beck of Escanaba and Dave Haglund of Menominee continue to dominate the Great Northern Conference in four of the statistical departments while sophomore Tom Kangas of Escanaba has moved into the lead of another as the conference teams head into the final week of the season.

Kangas took over the lead in the rebounding department with 100 rebounds in his eight appearances. Last week's leader, Dewey Bellisle of Menominee, dropped into second place with 95 rebounds and Terry Dufour of Holy Name moved into the third spot with 91.

Haglund retained his lead in the scoring race but has a new challenger as Dufour has moved into second place ahead of Bellisle. Haglund has scored 192 points in eight games while Dufour has tossed in 153. Bellisle is in third place with 147. Haglund also leads the conference in assists with 32.

Beck holds leads in field goal percentage and free throw percentage. In field goals Beck has connected on 40 of 65 attempts for a .615 mark to hold the lead over teammates Kangas and John Moberg. Kangas is hitting a .545 clip on 42 field goals in 77 attempts while Moberg is third at an even .500 on 30 of 60 attempts from the outside.

Beck's free throw percentage is .824 as he has hit on 14 of 17 attempts from the gift stripe to take the lead from teammate Bob Gauthier who dropped all the way to fifth. Haglund and Al Grabowski of Holy Name rank second and third.

The Escanaba Junior Varsity's victory over Holy Name on Tuesday night gave them a commanding lead in the JV race with a 7-1 mark. Menominee is in second place with a 6-2 record while Holy Name and West Iron County are tied for third with 5-3 marks.

The conference statistics do not give a true picture of what is going on in the various races as West Iron County has not sent in any statistics all season.

Entry Blanks Out For Cage Tourney

HERMANVILLE — Entry blanks for the 31st annual Upper Michigan and Northeastern Wisconsin Amateur Basketball tournament to be held March 22-30 at the community center have been put in the mail.

Approximately 40 entry blanks have been sent to independent teams, tournament manager Douglas LaCourse reported, and that about thirty teams are expected to enter. Teams not receiving entry blanks who wish to enter should contact LaCourse at Box 191, Hermansville.

TIGER MAIL — Detroit Tigers equipment manager John Hand has an armload of mail that has been delivered to the Tigers' spring training camp in Lakeland. It is doubtful whether the Tiger regulars will be reporting tomorrow because of the pension differences but apparently fans of the players believe that they will be, judging by amount of mail pouring in (AP Wirephoto)

Notre Dame Cagers Get Sixth Straight Victory

By The Associated Press

Two trips to New York in one season is enough for Notre Dame. Now the Irish want a second shot at UCLA, and the way they're going, they might get it.

The unranked Irish, headed toward one of their finest basketball seasons, rolled past a tough New York U. club 98-88 Thursday night at Madison Square Garden for their sixth straight victory and an 18-5 record.

A week from Saturday Notre Dame returns to New York for a match against seventh-ranked St. John's and regardless of the outcome, the Irish are almost a certainty to get postseason bids to the NCAA tournament and the NIT in the Garden.

Given that choice, Coach Johnny Dee says the Irish will forsake another trip to the big city in hopes of getting another shot at UCLA.

"We want the chance to play the champions of conferences and we'd like another crack at Kentucky and UCLA," Dee said after his club wiped out NYU in the second half.

Notre Dame, an independent, lost to UCLA 88-75 in the second game of the season and fell to Kentucky 110-90 five games later, but the Irish are 13-2 since then and an optimistic bunch.

"Maybe on a certain night we could beat UCLA," center Bob Whitmore said. "There's always that chance."

Marquette, another team with a chance for the other NCAA bid that will go to a Midwest independent, raised its record to 19-4 with a 65-61 triumph at Denver. The Warriors, ranked 20th, were the only ranked team in action Thursday night on a light college schedule.

Elsewhere, Houston blasted Lamar Tech 95-71, Drake gunned down Wichita State 120-94, Arizona upset New Mexico 77-75, Wake Forest edged North Carolina State 52-49, Arizona State defeated Wyoming 87-79 and in the opener of the Garden doubleheader, Temple crushed Manhattan 93-68.

Whitmore teamed with Austin Carr and Bob Arzen to bury NYU as the trio combined for 69 points. After Carr, a sophomore flash who missed 11 games with injuries, scored 15 of his 25 points to put Notre Dame ahead

On The Sidelines With Mike Utt

Tom Ray of Bark River, one of the top performers on the area basketball scene all season, has built a rather impressive set of statistics through his 16 appearances on the hardwood this season. The big Bronco center has hit the boards for 395 rebounds for an average of 24.7 per game while scoring 284 points for an average of 17.8 a game. Ray has hit 51 per cent from the field of 102 of 203 attempts and has hit 80 of 146 free throw attempts for 55 per cent from the charity stripe.

Both instructors appeared through the courtesy of LSSC. Dr. Chelberg discussed the "Line Mole Method" which he has perfected in solving chemistry problems and in use in many colleges today. He elaborated on the method by citing specific examples in solving problems the MHS students are studying.

Take Walleye At Gulliver Lake

The weather has been mild and fair this past week with intermittent snow flurries. Snow conditions are excellent for sledding, skiing and snowshoeing.

Ice conditions on inland lakes are excellent. There is little or no slush atop the ice. The Great Lakes bays are tied in with ice in good shape and ice is making off shore. Fishermen and sledgers are warned to beware of areas of fast currents in the St. Mary's River, or, if fishing the outer part of Whitefish Bay, watch the wind as ice pans will still break loose from the shoal ice and drift lakeward.

Deer are working out into the openings on recent sunny days and many are being hit by automobiles. Motorists are warned to beware of deer crossing areas, a number of which are marked by highway signs. Snow sledgers are warned that it is unlawful to chase and molest the deer and violators will be prosecuted.

Fishing in general has been spotty around the district this past week.

Mackinac County:
Manistique Lake - Some walleye taken along the East Shoal and in Litzinger Bay. Perch being caught near Burnt Island and Needle Point. Joe Norman, McMillan, speared a 19 1/2 pound northern pike on February 12. Ken Garrett, Curtis speared a 10 pound northern pike on February 10.

Whitefish Lake - Some nice catches of cisco are made in early morning hours and late afternoon. These fish range in size from 10 to 17 inches. Wigglers are the preferred bait.

Epoufette Bay - A few pike taken in inner bay, some jumbo perch in outer bay.

Millecoquin Lake - Fair catches of large perch and some northern pike.

Brevort Lake - Pike and perch fishing reported good.

Hay Lake - Good catches of northern pike made.

East Moran Bay (Lake Huron) - Fair catches of yellow perch and chubs.

Schoolcraft County:
Gulliver Lake - Some nice catches of walleye in the 4-6 pound class made off the south-central point area.

Indian Lake - Perch fishing fair to good.

Milliken Denies Recreation Fund Allocation Plans

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken said Thursday that his administration does not plan to limit its attention to Detroit alone in dealing with urban affairs.

Speaking to the Michigan Municipal League, Milliken also pledged that state government would not try in any way to move in to take over functions belonging to municipal government.

"For too long," he said, we in Michigan, as elsewhere, have been preoccupied with our own individual and local concerns.

"Residents of one part of the state have not always been sufficiently concerned with the problems of other parts of Michigan."

"City dwellers have mistrusted, or been unimpressed of, those who live in rural areas. Suburbanites have often derided the residents and the problems of the central cities."

"Those who live in rural Michigan have sometimes taken comfort in the belief that the problems of our cities are not their problems."

Such attitudes cannot continue, Milliken said, "for recent events tell us starkly that we must overcome our problems together, or those problems will overcome us separately."

Referring to the $100 million recreation bond issue approved by the voters last November, the governor said it is not secret that he believes a large share of the recreation fund should be spent in urban areas.

Milliken has been reported as in favor of allocating more than half of the money for projects in Detroit's ghetto areas.

Such a recommendation to the Legislature probably would draw criticism from conservation groups who want the bulk of the funds to go for state parks and wildlife, hunting and fishing projects.

"I have not yet decided on the allocation formula," Milliken said, "but I can assure you that whatever formula and system of priorities I recommend will reflect both my concern for the cities and for the preservation of natural resources."

Milliken said he also would give the highest priority to rapid passage in the Legislature of a bill that will implement a program for solving the state's water pollution problems.

Containers Topic Of Dairy Meet

EAST LANSING (AP) — Plastic milk containers and new insulation materials for refrigeration will be among topics discussed at the 17th national dairy engineering conference Tuesday and Wednesday at Michigan State University.

Specialists from 20 firms in eight states are to speak to the nearly 200 dairy plant engineers, manufacturing representatives and university dairy plant research people at the conference.

MSU Workshop On Lab Science

EAST LANSING (AP) — A workshop introducing a one-year laboratory science course for junior and senior high school students will be held Tuesday at Michigan State University. The course, "the man made world," was developed by the Commission on Engineering Education and the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn.

Finds His Mother After 21 Years

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — With the help of the federal government William Littleton, 23, has found the mother he last saw 21 years ago.

His mother, Mrs. Howard Smead of San Diego, sent her 2-year-old son to live with his paternal grandparents when she was separated from his father in 1948.

Littleton began a search for her six years ago and finally sought the aid of the Social Security Administration, which forwarded his letter to Mrs. Smead.

She called him on the phone and said "Bill, this is your mother."

"I was flabbergasted," she said Tuesday. "I've been walking around in a daze."

Littleton and his wife, Carol, expect to make Mrs. Smead a grandmother in May. They plan a reunion in San Diego this weekend.

MISSIONARIES LAUDED

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — West Bengal governor Dharma Vira said the pioneering activities of Christian missionaries contributed greatly to the Indian renaissance of the 19th century.

He was speaking at the 150th anniversary of the Serampore College, founded by Christian missionaries in 1818.

Serampore was the first college in India to confer degrees and now is the only college that confers degrees in theology.

Car Production Behind Last Year

DETROIT (AP) — Auto production in U.S. plants topped the 175,000 mark this week but trailed the year ago 1968 pace when the industry was trying to make
